Today's global maritime world presents many technical and logistical challenges, not least the need for quality assured, cost-effective training.

Since January 2017, the STCW (Standards of Training, Certification and Watchkeeping) for Seafarers Code requires all seafarers to have completed refresher/updated training. Sourcing this mandatory STCW training, together with the existing OPITO (Offshore Petroleum Industry Training Organisation) refresher training, is a challenge for maritime and offshore crewing teams.

Global provider of integrated shipping, logistics & marine services, GAC, helps you meet that challenge with the GAC Global Training Provider Network.

Complete package

This network of quality approved training centres in strategic locations around the globe gives you greater choice when selecting the best options for cost-effective, quality assured training. Crewing personnel can book training at one of a selection of established training centres worldwide for crew en route to their vessel or rig, or on their way back home after completing a rotation.

We take care of every aspect of training so you don't have to. We'll research availability and best locations for your crew, at the most competitive price. The GAC Global Training Provider Network saves you time and money whilst delivering top quality professional training.

The GTPN advantage

- Single point of contact
- Proven expertise
- More training locations for crew at quality-assured centres worldwide
- Time and cost savings
- Bespoke company specific training dates available on demand
