Behind the scenes - GAC Events Asia takes centre-stage

At “live” performances, audiences are gearing themselves for a total sensory experience – impressive stage set-up, state-of-the-art sound systems or even unexpected props are now de rigueur in shows.

Logistics is an integral part of what goes on behind the scenes, ensuring every piece of equipment arrives safely at the right place, at the right time – contributing to the success of every show.

To present those few hours of glitz and glitter on stage, GAC Events Asia’s dedicated team of specialists work round the clock behind the curtain, to put the show together.

And these are operations that require specialist skills and tools to succeed. The costly and often fragile equipment such as sound systems, lighting, staging and other props are often one-of-its kind.

GAC Events Asia has established a track record of fast and efficient turnaround for jet-setting stars in the league of Christina Aguilera and Il Divo on whirlwind performance tours. Our portfolio of clients has grown extensively to range from pop bands to more high-browed performances.

Job portfolio include: Ricky Martin, the Cranberries, Alicia Keys, Rolling Stones, Sarah Brightman, Aga Boom, Mariah Carey, American Idol, Sammi Cheng, Oasis, Craig David, Westlife, Kylie Minogue, Sesame Street, Deep Purple, Scorpions, Street Circus, World Wrestling Entertainment, Christina Aguilera, Beyonce Knowles, The Police, Celine Dion, My Chemical Romance, Kasabian, Air Supply, Aerosmith, Il Divo, World Economy Forum, World Rally Championship, F1 Rocks 2009 and the exclusive logistics partner for the 15th Doha Asia Games in 2006.

“Live” in Action

A special chartered aircraft from Sri Lanka; a 12-hour countdown to a concert in Dubai; immediate repacking for shipment to Jordan.

It was all in a day’s work for GAC Events Asia, which needed clockwork precision to fly Bryan Adams’ entire stage and sound equipment.
