Fully flexible learning for the global shipping community

Overlooking the city of Cork and surrounded by Ireland's rolling green hills is the world's most advanced maritime academic facility – the $100 million National Maritime College of Ireland. Just a 45-minute hop from London Heathrow Airport, the NMCI is perfectly located to meet the growing training needs of the global shipping community.

Effective risk management

Recognising that optimally trained staff can crucially reduce physical, environmental and financial risk, the GAC Training & Service Solutions (GTSS) partnership of GAC and the NMCI serves the LNG and tanker markets as well as other commodity and maritime sectors. Courses cover all aspects of jetty operations including superintendency, health and safety, security and maintenance.

Combining outstanding facilities with GAC expertise

GAC Training & Service Solutions combines the NMCI's state-of-the-art facilities with GAC's global reach and fifty years of experience to provide cost saving, innovative and customised training solutions for seafarers and shipping and commodity operations personnel.

Total flexibility to meet every client's needs

Courses can take place at the NMCI, online, at the client's or any other location or any combination of these, providing precisely tailored hands-on, simulation-based and academic solutions to suit each client's varying needs, location and preferences.

Complete portfolio of courses, dedicated faculty

Course content is developed, constantly updated and delivered by some of the most respected names in maritime training. GAC Training & Services Solutions is supported by the NMCI faculty and specialist contract lecturers. A key feature of GTSS courses is the use of virtual experiences created through the use of R2S (Return to Scene) digital imagery captured inside LNG shore tanks, ships' tanks, cargo manifold, CCR and other areas.
